30th EUROPEAN CONGRESS ON OBESITY

LYON

23-26 April 2023
Dear Dr. Muriel Coupage,

It is an honor for me, as President of Lyon Metropole, to learn that Lyon is bidding to host the European Congress on Obesity (ECO) in April 2023. Lyon has extensive experience in hosting large international meetings. For 7 consecutive years, Lyon has been ranked in the top three French destinations for international association conventions - a solid reference indeed.

It would be my pleasure to welcome you to our city to discover its events infrastructure which will undoubtedly match the requirements of this prestigious international event.

Hosting the ECO in Lyon would also be an opportunity for the delegates to discover one of the most attractive cities in Europe, located at the confluence of the Saone and Rhône rivers, and designated a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 1998. Having been the ancient capital of Gauls, the city can look back over 2000 years of history. The delegates would also be able to experience our gastronomy which is, in Lyon more than anywhere else, not just a pleasure but a way of life.

Should Lyon be selected, you can be assured of the warmest welcome and our unwavering attention to make your event a success.

Yours sincerely,

David Knebel

Dear Professor Fargues-Lambert and dear members of the EAOS Executive Committee,

We are happy to support the candidacy of Lyon (France) for ECO 2023.

Lyon has a strong activity in obesity and diabetes surgery, as exemplified by Dr. Martine Levillo, a key-opinion leader in this field. We have hosted here the recent ISPO-EC (European Chapter) in May 2018, with great success.

Bariatric surgeons from all over Europe would come gladly to find a meeting, as well as medical companies dealing with bariatric devices and other services.

Lyon has a prominent position in scientific and medical research, with leading centers on obesity and nutrition, cancer, infectious diseases, genetics, neuroscience, and cardio-metabolism.

Lyon University hosts more than 15,000 students.

Lyon Convention Center hosts more than 350 events a year. As the second French destination in the international ranking (COE), Lyon has strong references with international events such as the annual meeting of the International Society of Pediatric Oncology (SIOP 2019), the European Congress of Endocrinology (ECE 2019), the World Allergy Congress (WAC2016), the European Microscopy Congress (EMC 2016) and the International Society of Arthroscopy, Knee Surgery and Orthopaedic Sports Medicine Congress (ISAKOS 2012)... and many more.

Hosting the ECO 2023 in Lyon would also be an opportunity for the delegates to discover one of the most attractive cities in Europe, located at the confluence of the Saone and Rhône rivers, and designated a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 1998. Having been the ancient capital of the Gauls, the city can look back over 2000 years of history.

The delegates would also be able to experience our gastronomy which is, in Lyon more than anywhere else, not just a pleasure but a way of life.

Best Regards,

Dr. Jérôme Dargent

LYONBIOPOLE

Dear President,

As a biocluster, LYONBIOPole is the first stop for healthcare innovation in Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes, France. In 2013, LYONBIOPole represented a community of 240 members: 100 companies including 16 world-class leaders that are LYONBIOPole’s founders (Pasteur, Inserm, INSERM, Hoche, Ingelheim, BDI) and 18 Research Centers including the LYONBIOPole’s founders (CEA, Ingelheim, Fondation Mérieux).

LYONBIOPole aims to support the emergence and development of innovative technologies, products and services in 4 main strategic areas: human medicine, veterinary medicine, in vitro diagnostics, medical devices and medical technology. The presence of 16 internationally recognized Clinical Research Centers is a strategic asset to foster innovation in Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes region.

For 3 years LYONBIOPole has been strengthening its activity in the health and nutrition sector in partnership with the European Center of Nutrition for Health (CINS), chaired by Professor Martin Leveille. CINS brings together the strengths in human nutrition research (ranging from molecular and cellular aspects to economics and social sciences) from the Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes region and fosters collaboration with the European network of research centers in nutrition. LYONBIOPole contributes to the valorization of the nutrition and health research carried out by the academic community with industries through scientific events.

The Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes region represents a dynamic region in the heart of Europe and hosts a large number of recognized and international scientific events.

For all these reasons, we believe that Lyon is a strategic place to host International Health related events and we are more than happy to support its current bid for the ECO 2023.

We look forward to the selection of this promising project.

Sincerely yours,

Great cities do not emerge by chance. It is factors of location, climate, geography, history and the men and women of the region that determine their existence.

Lyon is the result of this outstanding combination. Its 2000-years history testifies to Lyon’s ability to build its wealth and its success without ostentation but not without wisdom and clear-sightedness.

A city of trade, Lyon was the first city to hold large traders’ markets.

A city of communications, Lyon created a major access network that opened onto Europe and the rest of the world to encourage exchanges and influence between people, goods and ideas.

A city of finance, Lyon was innovative in exchanging currencies and setting up the first banking system in France.

Lyon would be the ideal destination in which to host the European Congress on Obesity in 2023, being the cradle of a long tradition of welcome and of 2,000 years of contact with Europe and the rest of the world.

FORCE network has been labeled in 2014 by the FCRIN infrastructure (French Clinical Research Infrastructure Network) which is one of the 23 INBS (National Infrastructures in Biology and Health) laureates of a call for projects entitled “National Infrastructures in Biology and Health” launched in 2010 by the French National Research Agency (ANR).

“The strength of collective and complementary expertises in clinical research for obesity and nutrition disorders”

Starting from its setting up in 2014, FORCE has been able to gather the high level of scientific expertise of its 37 centers specialized in care obesity management rising an outstanding research dynamic, increasing dramatically the number of common research projects in the field. The considerable number of patients treated by the 37 clinical centers from the FORCE network, offers a high potential of inclusion in trials but also of relevant clinical data collected during usual care. The results of the different intervention trials done by the FORCE network especially in the field of bariatric surgery has a high potential to change the medical practice in the domain through international papers and recommendations. Moreover, in 5 years, thanks to its relevant positioning on cross-cutting hot topics (stratification of patients, data sharing, phenotyping...) FORCE becomes the French pillar of several international scientific networks, facilitating the involvement of France within relevant initiatives and consortia.

Renaissance district
In order to facilitate the holding of major congresses, local event industry professionals have put in place comprehensive systems in order to facilitate the organisation of major international events for pre-reservation and purchase of hotel rooms and to adequately meet the needs of those looking to place an event in the city.

CONTEXT
The Hotel Charter (hereinafter "the Charter") concerns exclusively any new event organised by non-profit organisations (learned societies, federations, professional associations, etc.) generating more than 1,000 bed nights... and requiring reservations at several hotels.
The charter applies to events* for which the Lyon Convention Bureau (hereinafter: Lyon CVB) must have, several years in advance, placed a bid to host the event in the city of Lyon.
It may be submitted to agencies, the conditions below being, for the signatories of the Charter, "minimum" sales conditions. The Charter expresses the moral commitment of its signatories: non-compliance with the commitments made cannot result in any contractual or legal sanction.

* an event is a meeting:
- on the initiative of one or more scientific or technical organisations,
- with financial participation from event attendees,
- in the course of which participants from different walks of life meet at a given time and in a given place,
- with high educational added value,
- of which the objective is the dissemination, exchange of knowledge, and sharing of experience on a given theme between specialists in the same discipline,
- with a generally set frequency.
Article 1. VALIDITY OF THE CHARTER
This Charter applies for all signatories for a term of three consecutive years from the date of signing.

FOR GROUPS:

Article 2. HOTEL COMMITMENTS

Article 2.1. OFFER HARMONISATION

- The hotelier commits to not offer more attractive rates on reservation channels than the rates negotiated for the convention, until the final release date.
- The hotelier commits to make available 50% of the hotel’s accommodation capacity if the hotel has fewer than 100 rooms and 60% for more than 100 rooms.
